Question 17 (5 points)

According to the 'Continuum of harm' model, which of the following statements is true about the relationship between seemingly minor inappropriate behaviours (like sexist jokes) and extreme harm (like sexual assault)?

- ☐ Minor inappropriate behaviors are unrelated to severe harm, as they involve different underlying motivations and causes.
- ☐ The continuum of harm framework suggests that all individuals who tell offensive jokes will eventually commit sexual assault.
- ☐ Behaviors on the minor end of the continuum, such as sexist jokes, are illegal and should be treated with the same legal severity as sexual assault.
- ☐ Minor inappropriate behaviours sit on a range that, if left unaddressed in a tolerant environment, can escalate into more severe forms of harassment and violence, such as sexual assault.

Question 3 (5 points)

What is the critical difference between a verbal insult spoken on the bridge and a harassing post made on social media?

- ☐ Verbal harassment is always face-to-face, whereas digital harassment is always done by an unknown person.
- ☐ Verbal harassment is often considered more harmful because it is done in person, whereas digital harassment occurs when the victim is not physically present.
- ☐ Unlike a spoken comment, digital content is saved, can be shared globally, and may resurface years later to damage a career.
- ☐ Verbal insults are always considered 'Gross Misconduct'; whereas digital posts are considered minor 'Yellow Zone' infractions.

Question 8 (5 points)

When "Listening" to a victim, which of the following you shouldn't say?
